

A THOUGHT
Confess your faults one to another, and pray for one another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.—James 5:16.

Hope Star

WEATHER
Arkansas—Fair and warmer in northwest portion Monday night; Tuesday partly cloudy.

VOLUME 37—NUMBER 127

(AP)—Arkansas Associated Press
(NBA)—Arkansas Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n

HOPE, ARKANSAS, MONDAY, MARCH 9, 1936

Star of Hope 1930; Press, 1927.
Consolidated January 19, 1929.

PRICE 5c COPY

WAR LINE DRAWN IN EUROPE

Here and There

Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

HOPE police, moving with unexpected vigor, brought one of the local package-liquor stores into court this week-end on a charge of selling to a minor. On investigation the minor, an out-of-town boy, was shown to weigh 170 pounds and otherwise give a practically grownup appearance—one of those borderline cases. In this instance the store operator was acquitted, the boy having falsified his age in a community where he could not be checked up on.

Hope Is Declared Basketball Champ of Tenth District

Locals Capture Tourney's Final From McNeill by 39 to 27

BUCKNER IS SECOND

Locals Place Three Men on the Mythical All-District Team

The Hope High School Bobcats were crowned champions of District 10 with a 39-to-27 conquest over McNeill in the finals of the senior boys regional basketball tournament here Saturday night.

Buckner High School won the runner-up position by downing McNeill 15 to 12 in a play-off fray to decide the second choice entry in the state tournament to be played at Jonesboro this week.

Approximately 50 games were played in the three-day tournament with 32 teams competing.

In the semi-final matches, Walker-ville defeated Fatmos, 19 to 17, Hope beat Foutie, 41 to 23, McNeill won over Bright Star, 41 to 23, and Emerson eliminated Walker-ville, 28 to 11.

The championship game was a rather slow affair with the Bobcats holding an edge most of the time.

At the half Hope was out in front, 19 to 15. Ramsey of Hope was high scorer with 12 points. Turner of Hope and Gunnels of McNeill tied for second place with 10 points each.

The state tournament at Jonesboro will open Thursday night. The Bobcats are listed to meet Rogers in the first round of play.

Officials and coaches of District 10 announced their selection of an all-District squad, naming three Hope players as their choice. The all-District team:

Player	Position	School
Pulling	Forward	McNeill
Reece	Forward	Hope
Ramsey	Forward	Hope
Sherman	Center	Bright Star
Turner	Guard	Hope

The box score:

McNeill	Pg	Pt	Reb	Stk
Pulling, forward	3	2	1	3
Stagg, forward	3	0	0	0
Nix, center	0	0	3	0
Brazell, guard	0	1	2	1
Gunnels, guard	0	0	1	10
Milner, guard	0	2	1	2
Totals	11	5	8	27

HOPE

HOPE	Pg	Pt	Reb	Stk
Reece, forward	4	1	0	9
Bright, forward	2	0	1	4
Ramsey, center	4	4	0	12
Stone, guard	1	0	2	2
Turner, guard	5	0	1	10
Cargile, guard	0	0	0	0
Galloway, guard	0	0	0	0
Holley, guard	0	0	0	0
Totals	17	5	7	39

Trees do not grow up; marks on the trunks do not move upward as the tree grows taller.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The sunny side of life is apt to smile even the hardest spirit.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

THE SUNDAY SIDE OF LIFE IS APT TO SMILE EVEN THE HARDEST SPIRIT.

C. H. Crutchfield Is Acquitted of Selling to Minor

Ashtown Youth, Weighing 170 Pounds, Admits Saying He Was 21

ACTUALLY ONLY 18

Liquor Dealers to Require Affidavits Where Age Is Doubtful

C. H. Crutchfield, owner of the Crutchfield package liquor store, South Main street, was acquitted in municipal court Monday on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

After hearing the evidence, Municipal Court Judge W. K. Lemley handed down his decision. The judge quoted a section of the city ordinance under which Crutchfield was tried.

Judge Lemley pointed out that the ordinance says that a licensed dealer is left to determine the age of the person buying liquor. Judge Lemley also expressed the opinion that no jury would find Crutchfield guilty under the circumstances.

Crutchfield was arraigned for selling liquor to Vernon Keener, an Ashtown High School student.

The sale occurred last Friday afternoon. Crutchfield testified that Keener appeared in his store with two companions. Crutchfield said that he questioned Keener concerning his age, and that Keener told him he was 21 years old.

Crutchfield said that he asked the age of Keener's companions, and finding that they were minors, ordered them from his store.

Lie Is Admitted
Keener substantiated Crutchfield's testimony. The youth admitted he was only 18, but testified that he told Crutchfield he was 21.

Keener, a handsome youth, said that he weighed 170 pounds. Although only 18, he appeared to be older.

The youth's mother came here from Ashtown and testified to her son's age, saying that he was 18.

From the witness stand Crutchfield said that he had no intention of violating any law, and that he conducted his store under a strict policy and that he was cautious in selling persons liquor when their age was in question.

Attorney Luke Monroe represented Crutchfield. W. S. Atkins was the attorney for the city.

Following the Crutchfield-Keener episode, liquor dealers of Hope Monday placed an order for printing of affidavits whereby they would require youthful persons buying liquor to sign for it.

Other Cases
Other court procedure Monday: Six persons forfeited $10 cash bonds on drunkenness charges when they failed to appear for trial. They were: Lee Gorham, Elrie Foster, Ethel Davis, C. D. Arnold, Dan McCaskill and Roy Taylor.

Doe Keith was fined $15 on a plea of guilty to drunkenness. John Eubanks, Jack Simpson and Ernest Bennett also pleaded guilty to drunkenness and each was fined $10.

Dennis Turner, negro, was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail for theft of a pair of hose from the Burr store.

Milton Powell, 16-year-old white youth, was fined $50 and sentenced to 10 days in jail for gasoline theft from T. G. Gardner's car parked near Hotel Barlow.

Parker Walker, negro, pleaded guilty to theft of axe handles from Bruner-Ivory Handle company and was fined $25 and sentenced to a day in jail.

Laura Williams and Ozella Williams, negro women, were fined $2.50 each for beating Helen Meek, another negro woman, with stove wood. The Meek woman testified she was struck several times across the hip and over the head.

Arthur Barnes, charged with selling illegal liquor, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs.

Archie Palmer, negro, waived preliminary hearing on a grand larceny charge and was bound over to the grand jury under $250 bond. He is charged with theft of a cow, the property of Frank Jamison.

Dinky Modest, charged with stealing and cutting timber, was found not guilty.

Combs to Run for Lt. Governorship

Secretary State Committee Enters the Primary Campaign

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Harvey G. Combs, Little Rock lawyer and secretary of the State Democratic committee, said over the week-end that he had decided to enter the race for lieutenant governor at the Democratic primary next August 11. He said he would make a formal announcement later.

Mr. Combs has been secretary of the Democratic Committee for the past three years and was assistant secretary last year.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Figures showing that 2,879,000 individuals would pay new additional taxes should the corporations, faced with a proposed tax on their individual income, distribute all earnings among stockholders, were submitted by Treasury authorities Monday to the house ways and means subcommittee.

Italy Suspends Her Drive on Ethiopia to Watch Europe

Marshal Badoglio Halts Advance, and Grounds His Fighting Planes

ETHIOPIA KEEPS ON

Will Continue "Defensive War" Until Peace Discussion Begins

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia.—(AP)—It was officially stated Monday that Ethiopia, no matter what Italy does, "will continue a defensive war, until peace negotiations begin on a definite basis."

This statement was made following receipt of a report that Marshal Badoglio, commander of the Italian forces, had ordered a cessation of the offensive on the northern front.

Italy Suspends War
ASMARA, Eritrea.—(AP)—Offensive operations by Italian troops on the Ethiopian northern front were suspended at 8 a. m. Sunday pending developments on the League of Nations recommendation for peace talks.

(Ethiopia accepted the suggestion unreservedly, while Italy's reply said she agreed "in principle" to enter negotiations.)

Italian airplanes were grounded after Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian commander-in-chief, returned to Asmara from field headquarters. He was greeted by crowds which cheered the news of cessation of Italian operations and applauded his victories.

There was a general feeling of optimism about the war, but anxiety existed on all sides regarding the German developments. Belief existed widely that the Ethiopian war was of minor importance in the face of the new European developments, and that a quick peace would be sought to enable all to face the tremendous European problems.

Atkins to Speak to Women's Club

County Democratic Women Will Meet at City Hall 3:30 p. m. Tuesday

Attorney W. S. Atkins will address a meeting of the Hempstead County Women's Democratic club to be held at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday in the council room of Hope City hall.

The meeting will be called by Mrs. C. S. Lowthorp, county chairman. She urged a large attendance.

The theme of Mr. Atkins' address will be, "More Intelligent Use of the Ballot by Arkansas Women Voters."

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Congress was asked Monday to put the government in the road building business on a bigger scale than ever before by adding funds for grade-crossing eliminations, feeder roads, and national parkway, to the regular federal aid system.

The proposal was presented by Senator Hayden and Representative Cartwright, Democrats, authorizing the expenditure of 236 million dollars in 1938 and a similar sum in 1939.

50 Killed in Road Accidents in U. S.

Four CCC Recruits Victims of Crash Near Gillett, Wyo.

By the Associated Press
Automobile accidents took 50 lives throughout the nation Sunday.

Four CCC members suffering from fatigue were killed in a truck accident near Gillett, Wyo., while en route to a hospital for treatment.

A fifth victim of an auto accident in New York, died Sunday. The sixth occupant of the car was operated upon and not expected to live.

Pennsylvania with eight deaths led the states. Texas had seven.

The list: Pennsylvania 8, Texas 7, Alabama 5, Wyoming 4, North Carolina, Kentucky 3, California, Iowa, Illinois, Connecticut and New Jersey 2, Ohio, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Oregon, Nevada, South Carolina and New York one each.

Three Deny Link With Billue Case

Wilson, Dove and Brumley Are Returned to Prescott

TEXARKANA, Ark.—(AP)—Denying knowledge of the November slaying of Night Watchman Robert S. Billue at Emmet, Robert (Blackie) Wilson, Harry (Dubs) Dove and Archie Brumley were returned Sunday night to Prescott after questioning here by Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart. The official said nothing definite had been decided in the investigation.

Dr. Charles M. Lewis Buried Here Sunday

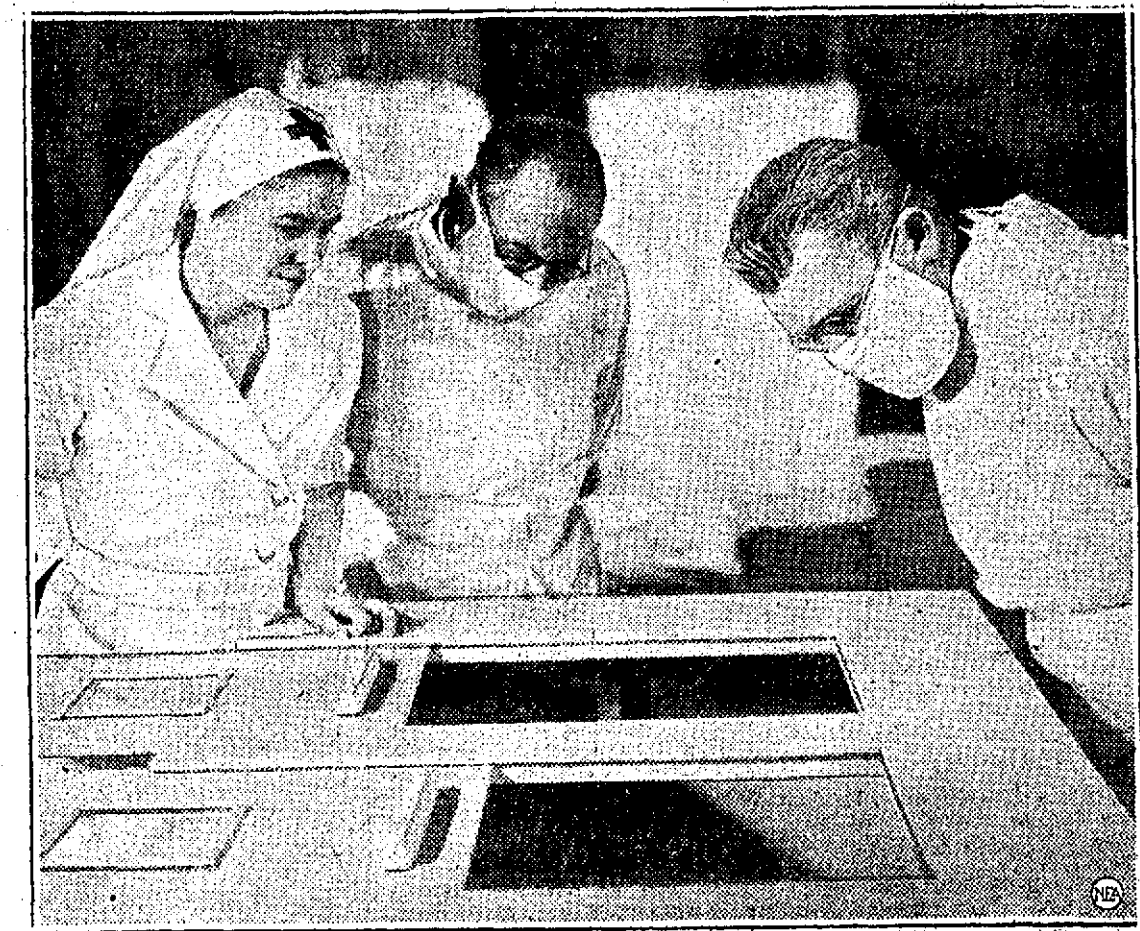

Funeral services for Dr. Charles M. Lewis, Hope negro physician, were held at 10 a. m. Sunday from the Hazel street M. E. church, preached by Dr. R. F. Neil, negro minister of Fort Smith. Dr. Lewis died at his home here Friday morning. He had been a resident of Hope 31 years.

Snakes have jaws with elastic hinges; otherwise, they could not swallow their prey whole.

(Continued on page two)

The Country Doctor

A Novelization of the Twentieth Century-Fox Film, Starring the Dionne Quintuplets With Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Peterson, June Lang, Michael Whalen and Shini Summerville

Beyond all the hubbub, there were five little living things in a basket out at the Asa Wyatts'. Until the incubators came, hot water bottles had to be constantly replenished. The babies, of course, remained serenely unconscious of the fact that they were the center of attention of half a world.

Huge Road Building Fund Is Requested

Would Add Grade Crossings, Feeder Roads, to Federal Aid System

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Congress was asked Monday to put the government in the road building business on a bigger scale than ever before by adding funds for grade-crossing eliminations, feeder roads, and national parkway, to the regular federal aid system.

The proposal was presented by Senator Hayden and Representative Cartwright, Democrats, authorizing the expenditure of 236 million dollars in 1938 and a similar sum in 1939.

Three Deny Link With Billue Case

Wilson, Dove and Brumley Are Returned to Prescott

TEXARKANA, Ark.—(AP)—Denying knowledge of the November slaying of Night Watchman Robert S. Billue at Emmet, Robert (Blackie) Wilson, Harry (Dubs) Dove and Archie Brumley were returned Sunday night to Prescott after questioning here by Prosecuting Attorney Ned Stewart. The official said nothing definite had been decided in the investigation.

Dr. Charles M. Lewis Buried Here Sunday

Funeral services for Dr. Charles M. Lewis, Hope negro physician, were held at 10 a. m. Sunday from the Hazel street M. E. church, preached by Dr. R. F. Neil, negro minister of Fort Smith. Dr. Lewis died at his home here Friday morning. He had been a resident of Hope 31 years.

Snakes have jaws with elastic hinges; otherwise, they could not swallow their prey whole.

(Continued on page two)

French Man Forts as Nazi Troopers Swarm Rhineland

But Threat of Actual Fighting Is Considered to Be Remote

FRENCH ARE ANGRY

England Forbids Open War, But Allows Hitler to Take the Rhine

METZ, France.—(AP)—Fear of frontier incidents swept along the border Monday as French and German troops faced one another on the Rhineland border for the first time since the World war.

Metz, Strasbourg and Nancy, headquarters of the tri-color frontier regiments, were cleared of troops in a quick movement to fill subterranean fortresses along that line of the Rhine border.

Officers said the French fortifications in some places were "within machine-gun distance" of the newly-arrived Nazi forces on the left bank of the Rhine.

Copyright Associated Press
LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden warned Germany Monday that any attack upon France or Belgium in violation of the Locarno treaty would force Great Britain to go to the assistance of those two nations.

At the same time he told the House of Commons that he was thankful to say there was no reason to suppose that "the present German action implies a threat of hostilities."

Germany's View
BERLIN, Germany.—(AP)—Responsibility for the remilitarization of the Rhineland was placed officially on France's door by Germany Monday for that nation's mutual-assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

This act, said a German political paper, so altered European conditions, together with the related Russo-Czechoslovak agreement, "that the factors of security for Germany, namely for a demilitarized zone, increased invisibly and unfathomably, and thereby the foundations of the Locarno pact were destroyed."

The French View
PARIS, France.—(AP)—France regards the remilitarization of the Rhineland as a wanton and deliberate treaty violation by Germany, threatening French security, imperiling European peace, an embarrassing act while she is engaged in a tense election campaign.

Premier Sarraut said Monday that Hitler had distorted the intent of the Soviet mutual assistance pact and used it as "an unjustifiable pretext for repudiating solemn engagements."

War Not Likely
PARIS, France.—(Copyright Associated Press)—French officials declared Monday that war with Germany to oust Hitler's troops from the Rhineland was impossible, and that Great Britain's apparent sympathy with Hitler's peace efforts blocked French demands for "justice."

France Fortifies Frontier
PARIS, France.—(AP)—The French cabinet, meeting in a virtual "war council," denounced Adolf Hitler's remilitarization of the Rhineland Sunday and ordered land and air forces to assemble on Germany's frontiers as a precautionary measure. The navy also was ordered into readiness.

The cabinet, meeting under President Albert Lebrun, debated everything from a League of Nations censure to war as a punishment of Germany.

Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin in an appeal to the secretariat of the League charged that "important" forces of Germany troops are in the Rhineland and not the "small detachments" Berlin announced.

"Because of the need of haste I would be obliged if you will take all necessary measures so the Council may meet with the shortest possible delay," Flandin said in his cable to Geneva.

France will consult with other signers of the Locarno treaty—Great Britain, Belgium and Italy—here Tuesday.

Premier Albert Sarraut, in a bitter and outspoken radio speech to the nation Sunday night, announced that France had "refused to examine" Hitler's offer to negotiate a 25-year peace pact. He said France has "no confidence" in a nation that "just repudiated solemn engagements."

The Premier called upon the nation to remain calm, "in contrast with the hysterical language which echoed Saturday from the Reichstag tribune."

Withhold Judgment
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, former chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, expressed the opinion Sunday that the military restrictions placed upon Germany by the treaty of the Versailles

(Continued on page two)

(Continued on page three)

(Continued on page four)

(Continued on page five)

(Continued on page six)

(Continued on page seven)

(Continued on page eight)

(Continued on page nine)

(Continued on page ten)

(Continued on page eleven)

(Continued on page twelve)

Hope Star

O Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Reports!

Published every week-day afternoon by Star Publishing Co., Inc.
C. E. Palmer & Alex. H. Washburn, at The Star building, 212-214 South Walnut street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. H. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas
Under the Act of March 3, 1897.

Definition: "The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely circulated advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Col. R. R. McCormick.

Subscription Rate (Always Payable in Advance): By city carrier, per week 15c; per month 65c; one year $6.50. By mail, in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and Lafayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $6.50.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

National Advertising Representatives: Arkansas Dailies, Inc., Memphis, Tenn., Sterick Bldg., New York City, 369 Lexington; Chicago, Ill., 75 E. Wacker Drive; Detroit, Mich., 338 Woodward Ave.; St. Louis, Mo., Star Bldg.

Charges on Tributes, Etc.: Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolutions, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers hold to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

The Truth About Diet

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Among the interesting developments in dietary control of disease has been the use of the so-called ketogenic diets in epilepsy.

Such diets are based on an observation that the frequency of epileptic attacks was reduced when those afflicted went for a time without food. Starvation produces acidosis. Apparently, production of acidosis has a sedative effect and cuts down the convulsions.

There is also a theory that the diet which tends to produce acidosis is effective in that it causes an increased elimination of water from the body. There are many who believe that the seizures of epilepsy, of eclampsia, and other convulsive disorders are associated with accumulation of fluid in the tissues of the nervous system.

Many years ago, it was pointed out that diets which are high in fats and

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

I was tired and the small scion of the family came to my couch with a book. "Read to me," he begged. But first I said, "What did you have for supper?"

"Ice cream," he said.
"Ice cream? Well, I declare."
"Yes," he nodded. "It was good ice cream. I made it."
"Oh, did you?"
"Yes, I made it. I made it out of beer."

We both laughed, hard. I wish you could have heard his hearty giggle. It was especially funny to me because I didn't even know he knew what beer was. And perhaps he didn't.

"Well, come on. I'll read to you about Chirk Chipmunk and how his roof fell in."

"Who's Chirk Chipmunk?"
I showed him the picture.

Improvising Stories
He's just as big as a potato," I said. "Like a little squirrel."

"I saw a chipmunk once," he informed me solemnly.

"In a circus. He was that long," opening his arms wide. "And he had a turtle on his back."

"That was some circus," I admired.

"Yes," he giggled. "It was some circus."

I went on with the story, but in a few minutes he stopped me again.

"Say, do you know what happened?"

"No. What?"

"A great big hole was in my ceiling and a—river came in and I had to get a boat."

"Did you really?"

"Yes," this small munchausen explained. "And it was all dark."

"Let's read now."

We settled down to the story. He knew it wasn't true, but we both enjoyed it. In fact, I had written it myself years ago and hadn't looked at it since. It was as new to me as the first circus.

Getting at the Truth
After a while I said, "Who made the ice cream?"

"There's—"

"Was it beer ice cream?"

"No. Milk."

"Now about the chipmunk you saw in a circus. Was it a chipmunk or an elephant?"

"I guess it was an elephant."

"And did your roof fall in?"

He had forgotten about that flood in the dark.

I think some day he may be writing stories, too. And another little boy may be listening and inventing and grow up to write still more stories.

Not for an instant would I call him a liar. He knew that I knew that he was improvising. Or maybe he didn't. Maybe he thought I was bawling, and maybe he thought I was just nice.

War Line Drawn

(Continued from page one)

les had to end, but that Germany's action in throwing them off did not necessarily mean war.

His statement was made while government officials scanned closely the latest news from Europe as reported in frequent cables to the State Department by ambassadors and ministers abroad.

"I do not believe we should put the war aspect on the moves of Germany," said Borah.

"Of course no one would wish to prophesy either way as to the result. But I have a strong feeling it does not mean war."

"The Versailles Treaty had to go. The status quo had to have an end under that treaty. That has been apparent for a long time."

Official government quarters, continued to refrain from any comment on the situation, although privately they indicated the feelings of Senator Borah were shared generally.

Combs to Run For

(Continued from page one)

tary several years before that. He served as chief clerk of the House at the legislative sessions of 1915, 1917, 1919 and 1923.

Speaker of the House Harve B. Thorn of Polk county and Representative O. E. Gates of Cleveland county announced several weeks ago that they would be candidates for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Senator Sam M. Levine of Pine Bluff said indicated that he may become a candidate for the office and former Senator Robert Bailey of Russellville is considering making the race.

The total world ratio is 3.8 automobiles to every mile of road.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

by Deck Morgan © 1935 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON feels her dreams have come true when she acts out with the Kokinor diamond, accepted in payment for the salary due her when the magazine for which she worked as a writer suspended publication.

She heard the news she meets handsome DIKE SPROTT, expert ski jumper, as penniless as herself. The two are much attracted to each other. Then a misunderstanding comes between them.

Jane is flattered by the attention of TINO ROSSI, opera singer, and DIKE becomes the frequent escort of NORA LANE, famous actress and owner of the Kokinor diamond.

Others among the passengers are SNOWSHOES, a detective; JIMMIE, DOUGLASS, a wealthy and successful man; and LINDA, a girl who has been abandoned by her husband.

SNOWSHOES, a detective, is charged with the investigation. Most of the passengers are not aware of the truth, though they know of the theft.

Leaving Nassau behind, a storm comes up that threatens to become a hurricane. SNOWSHOES is charged with the investigation. Most of the passengers are not aware of the truth, though they know of the theft.

Linda and Jane, in Linda's stateroom, see a masked man enter, then disappear. Jane is telling SNOWSHOES about this when a shot is heard outside. Passengers rush to the door and see Dutch Lenz sweep overboard.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIII

THE shooting of Dutch Lenz brought about panic among the passengers. Their murmurs rose crescendo, but the fresh onslaught of the storm battering another life boat from its davits and hurling it out to sea, brought about a more active sense of their danger. They began to mill about aimlessly.

They had been calm, but now they moved about, chattering like shrill monkeys. Rumors flew. Why had there been no reports from the bridge? Had the ship been driven off the course—inside the reefs? Were they all doomed?

It was suddenly every man for himself. It was a mad scene of fear, stark and in some cases, abject. For some reason the men crowded out of the bar. The alcoholic spirits inside them no longer compensated for the lack of life preservers about their waists.

Instinctively the family groups drew closer together, clutching their life belts as if they were afraid of having them torn away. But no such move came from the men. In the moment of greatest danger they merely sought the companionship of human beings in the lounge.

Two of the ship's officers, their oil-skins dripping water, circulated about and tried to calm the people. There was no relaxation in the stern discipline the crew maintained, but the passengers misinterpreted these gestures.

But the orchestra played on. Ken Martin, recovered from his blow and sensing renewed panic in the crowd, began to sing, and Linda Bayes watched him. She joined him, and hand in hand they sang, high above the huddled groups of people. Some of their courage went out to the audience. Two lovers in the storm, they had come together. Linda had proved her love for him at last! Ken was content.

THE detective wanted to ask Linda if she knew anything about the person who had started to strangle her in her stateroom, but he questioned Jane instead.

"You don't recognize the man?" he said. "Are you sure it was a man?"

"Of course it was a man!" Jane said, "but he was masked, and had a cap pulled down. I couldn't tell whether I had ever seen him before. It all happened so quickly, and the lights were dim. He had on a heavy coat, and he looked rather large, bulged out. I don't think he knew I was in the stateroom with Linda. The roll of the ship flung him against the wall, and saved her from—"

"I believe there's only one man in this," SNOWSHOES said. "The man who killed Marnie Jackson, stole the Kokinor diamond, and then to cover up his crime made attempts on the lives—successful in one instance—of Dutch Lenz and Linda Bayes. Is that man. He's abroad on the ship."

"Dutch Lenz may have committed the first crime," DIKE said obstinately. "Now he's dead. The Kokinor may have changed hands."

But then SNOWSHOES looked more puzzled than ever. Jane watched him, for her own mind was racing along impossible channels. The detective said suddenly, "If Dutch Lenz didn't send that note to Linda Bayes, who did? Who else could it have been? Somebody ashore in Nassau," he added quickly. Then his eyes had a sudden light in them, and he said, low: "There is a passenger on board this ship who is not a passenger. He is the corpse! And he's walking around on two legs like any of the rest of us."

Jane was aghast. "You mean, a man came on board in that long black box? Somebody ashore—"

"That's just it!" SNOWSHOES said. "It could have been arranged. We'll have to question the ship's officers who had the body in charge, but they're on heavy duty now, trying to maneuver this ship through the storm—"

"But if there is another man in the crime, who stole the Kokinor diamond from Nora Lane's suite?" Jane said. "Where is Millie?"

SNOWSHOES was rubbing his bald spot again, and he had to grin with discouragement. "I think I'll just go round up the corpse, and let the rest go hang until the storm is over. I don't like the idea of a corpse running around here."

low. With DIKE at his side the detective went down to Deck B and cautiously approached the stateroom where Linda had been attacked by the masked man. The ship took a bad roll once, and they were thrown into a heap on the floor, while the lights dimmed completely and then glowed feebly again.

They were lying there, breathlessly still, when they heard a sound of tapping in the passage-way. They lay still, and listened. There it was again, and it sounded more than a tap. Something was beating against the door of a steward's linen closet.

They approached the closet with due caution. There was a simple lock on it that might have slammed shut. The key was in it. But there was undoubtedly some person behind that door, trying desperately to get out.

DIKE propped himself in the aisle, and SNOWSHOES unlocked the door, flinging it open. Something tumbled out headlong and lay on the floor, uttering one shrill cry which was lost in the noise of the hurricane.

"Why, it's Millie!" the detective said, but before they could touch her she ran away from them, up the stairs and into the lounge.

They ran after her and caught up with her just as she flung herself, sobbing bitterly, at Madame's feet. She clung to the old dowager and handed the jewel-box to her.

"Millie, what have you done?" Madame was saying.

THE companion was almost hysterical. "I've been locked up in that closet for hours," she sobbed. "I thought I was going to die. I screamed, and screamed, and nobody could hear me. I was running from him, and climbed in the closet to hide. When I closed the door I was locked in—"

"Running from whom?" the detective said.

"That man! They woke me up, the stewards running up and down when the storm started. I wasn't quite sure what it was, but I heard a noise in the suite next door. They were dragging something heavy over the floor. It was in the room where they put that corpse. I was shaking all over, and hid my head under the covers for a long time. But then I heard something in Madame's bedroom, and I got really scared. I thought it might be the thing—come to life again. I put on my dressing gown and went in. When I saw the thing—it wore a mask and was poking around in the dark—I ran to Madame's pillow, and snatched up the jewels. She can't hear well, and didn't wake up. I got by the thing to the outside door and ran down the deck and got away from him. There were so many people running up and down. I saw that closet open, and climbed in. I don't know whether he followed me or not, I was so scared."

Madame was murmuring, "You poor child, you risked your life to save my jewels!" when Millie broke down. "I don't want to drown," she sobbed, brokenly. "I haven't got a life preserver. Every body else has one but me. The ship's sinking. I know. And I was locked up in that black hole, going to drown, drown—"

The detective said, sighing, "Well, at least we don't have to find your jewels, Madame. They're safe."

They paused while the ship went through one of those herculean shudders again.

But suddenly the detective knelt his brows closely together. "We haven't a single clue," he said. "This man is interested in diamonds and won't stop at murder to get them. But we're stumped. It may be any one of those suspicious-looking types on board. We can't keep track of them in this storm. And it may be the corpse that walks like a man, and throws his coffin overboard in the storm," he ended unhappily.

The old dowager scoffed. "There have been queer doings on this ship since I came on board. I wouldn't be surprised at anything. Let it walk! Nothing bothers me any more. If I've stood this much excitement my heart is good for a few years more—"

"We won't find the murderer until we find the Kokinor diamond," SNOWSHOES insisted stubbornly. "And it may have changed hands on shipboard. And it'll probably show up in a diamond cutter's shop in Amsterdam, in a dozen places."

(To Be Continued)

QUALITY SEEDS - PLANTS Everything for Field and Garden including supplies, insecticides, spray materials, etc. For Heavy Yields Use SEMESAN Mont's Seed Store 110 E. 2nd St.

NEW PERFECTED HYDRAULIC BRAKES (Double-Acting, Self-Articulating) the safest and smoothest ever developed

SOLID STEEL one-piece TURRET TOP a crown of beauty, a fortress of safety

HIGH-COMPRESSION VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE giving even better performance with even less gas and oil

New Money-Saving 6% G.M.A.C. TIME PAYMENT PLAN Compare Chevrolet's low delivered prices and low monthly payments.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Hotpoint Refrigerators Harry W. Shiver Plumbing - Electrical

Interest Grows in Kerley's Revival

God's Promise to Both Jews and Gentiles Recalled by Speaker

Interest in the revival now being conducted on West Fourth street, continues to grow, and the services are being attended by more people each night. The Sunday night service was well attended and enjoyed by all present.

Evangelist Kerley spoke Sunday morning on "God's Promise to Both Jews and Gentiles," first made in the Garden of Eden and continuously to the prophets and confirmed by Jesus and the apostles.

Had the Jews understood the promise contained in the scriptures, they would have understood that when their Messiah came, it was to bring salvation to both Jew and Gentile according to Isaiah, ch. 57 vs. 19 and Eph. ch. 2 vs. 11 to 18, using in connection with that, Acts 2:39, where Peter preached that magnificent sermon, after the Holy Spirit was poured out, saying, "The promise is unto you and your children (the Jews) and to them (the Gentiles) that are afar off, even as many as the Lord our God shall call."

At the close of the message, Evangelist Kerley asked those who desired the confirmation of this promise in their lives, to make it known by coming forward. Several responded.

Madrid Cafe Closes

MADRID—(AP)—The Casa Botin, whose specialty of roast suckling pig has been sampled by thousands of tourists, has closed its doors after being operated by the Botin family since 1620. The 300-year-old cafe ran into financial difficulties.

Sodium lighting equipment has been installed on a road between Tacoma and Ft. Lewis, Wash. This is the longest highway in the United States thus illuminated.

It is estimated that six of every 10 United States farmers drive cars.

Wrestling Matches Will Be Resumed Here Thursday Night

"Handsome Jack" Moore, above, appears in the main event at Fair Park wrestling show here Thursday night.

Resumption of regular weekly wrestling matches at Fair Park arena was announced Monday by Promoter Bert Mauldin.

Mr. Mauldin has made connections with a light heavyweight circuit in Little Rock, and promises to give Southwest Arkansas fans the best talent in that division.

The first show this year is scheduled for Thursday night. A good card has been arranged for the opening program. Three of the four wrestlers appearing here are billed for headline showings at Little Rock this week.

"Handsome Jack" Moore of Lawrence county will meet Pete Balton of New York city in the main event, scheduled for two out of three falls with a two-hour time limit.

Moore, a graduate of the Farmer Burns school of wrestling, has been very successful at Little Rock. He is well schooled in applying arm locks and toe holds. He is effective with the kangaroo kick.

Balton is well known for his use of "the whip," a cruel maneuver. In the semi-final event, Leslie Wolfe of Sherman, Texas, will oppose Henry Kolfin of Davenport, Iowa, former

Political Announcements

The Star is authorized to announce the following as candidates subject to the action of the Hempstead county Democratic primary election August 11, 1936:

For County & Probate Judge RUFFIN WHITE

For County Treasurer CLIFFORD FRANKS

middleweight champion. The show opens at 8 p. m.

In the future Promoter Mauldin said that he would bring LeRoy McGuirk, world's light heavyweight champion, to Hope. McGuirk appeared here last year.

Mauldin said that he would also return such top-notchers as "Wild Red" Berry, Scotty McNaught, Frank Hill and others.

WANTED Cast Iron Scraps Arkansas Machine Specialty Co. Hope, Arkansas

HEMPSTEAD COUNTY OWNERSHIP MAPS Correct as of January 1, 1936 Paper $10 Lined $15 Byers Abstract Co. C. C. BYERS Washington, Ark.

NOTICE See me if you want to sell or buy OIL LEASES or ROYALTIES FLOYD PORTERFIELD

... in the only car in the lower price range with the FAMOUS KNEE-ACTION RIDE*

NEW PERFECTED HYDRAULIC BRAKES (Double-Acting, Self-Articulating) the safest and smoothest ever developed

SOLID STEEL one-piece TURRET TOP a crown of beauty, a fortress of safety

HIGH-COMPRESSION VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINE giving even better performance with even less gas and oil

New Money-Saving 6% G.M.A.C. TIME PAYMENT PLAN Compare Chevrolet's low delivered prices and low monthly payments.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Hotpoint Refrigerators Harry W. Shiver Plumbing - Electrical

It is important to go places comfortably, just as it is important to go swiftly, safely and economically. And Chevrolet for 1936 maintains its title of the only complete low-priced car by being the only car in its price range with the famous Knee-Action Gliding Ride*—the most comfortable known.

Your Chevrolet dealer believes that "one ride is worth a thousand words." He invites you to ride in the new Chevrolet at your earliest convenience. Just so you'll know how much more comfortable it is on any road and at any speed.

The same ride will also prove that Chevrolet for 1936 is safer, more spirited and more thrilling to drive than any other thrifty car.

Because Chevrolet is the only car in its price range with New Perfected Hydraulic Brakes, Solid Steel one-piece Turret Top, High-Compression Valve-in-Head Engine, and many other important features. See and ride in this car—today!

CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH.

IMPROVED GLIDING KNEE-ACTION RIDE* the smoothest, safest ride of all

GENUINE FISHER NO DRAFT VENTILATION IN NEW TURRET TOP BODIES the most beautiful and comfortable bodies ever created for a low-priced car

SHOCKPROOF STEERING* making driving easier and safer than ever before

ALL THESE FEATURES AT CHEVROLET'S LOW PRICES $495 AND UP. List price of New Standard Coupe at Flint, Mich. $549. With bumper, spare tire and fire lock, the list price is $520 additional. Prices quoted in this advertisement are list at Flint, Michigan, and subject to change without notice. A General Motors Value.

The only complete low-priced car CHEVROLET YOUNG CHEVROLET CO. HOPE, ARKANSAS

Society

Mrs. Sid Henry

Telephone 821

O whither have you made a road today?
A road that's easy to pass along,
Across the mud-flats, across the clay,
A road to travel with a song?
O whither have you made a road today?
Bridging from chasm of gloom and despair,
To the heart of a friend with hope's fair ray,
A help with his burden of worry and care?
O whither have you made a road today?
A way for the aged, the suffering, and sad,
O whither have you made your road,
I pray,
To help men be better, and happy, and glad?
O whither have you made a road today?
A road to goodness, a road to right,
A road for children—for all, a way
That leads to peace, and strength and light?—Selected.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Roberts and son, Billy of Hugo, Okla., were week end

You will find us on Elm Street next door to Arkansas Natural Gas Office. Across from Barlow Hotel. COME TO SEE US.

THE GIFT SHOP
(Mrs. C. P. Holland)

CAR GLASS
CUT AND GROUND TO FIT ANY CAR
BRYAN'S Used Parts
411 South Laurel Street

SAENGER
NOW SHOWING

What a Cast!
TUES. 2:30
Matinee
15c

★ Warner BAXTER
(Seven previous times in 42nd Street)
★ ALICE FAYE
★ JACK OAKIE
★ ARLINE JUDGE
★ MONA BARRIE
★ GREGORY RATOFF
★ DIXIE GUNBAR
★ FATS WALLER
★ NICK LONG, JR.
★ KENNY BAKER

KING OF BURLESQUE
A Fox picture

COMING
ON STAGE
MAJOR BOWES' Amateurs
ON TOUR
IN PERSON
FRI.
MATINEE & NITE

FORMERLY $3.50 — NEVER BEFORE SOLD
AT THIS LOW PRICE!

The New MODERN
ENCYCLOPEDIA

To Readers of
HOPE STAR

You may have this COMPLETE, UP-TO-DATE, AUTHORITY ENCYCLOPEDIA for the amazingly low price of only $1.25 ($1.40 by mail)—no other payments. Acclaimed by press and public throughout the nation, it is bringing new knowledge and happiness to hundreds of thousands of families everywhere. By special arrangement with the publishers, we are happy to bring this great work, compactly bound in one volume, within the reach of every reader of this newspaper. To get your copy, simply bring the special order form on this page to our office, or mail it to us with your remittance of $1.25. (Add 15c for cover cost of packing and postage if mailed.)

HERE IS YOUR ORDER FORM

HOPE STAR
Hope, Ark.

In accordance with your special offer, I would like a copy of the famous "Modern Encyclopedia" (Popular Edition, bound in red cloth, which consists of over 1,300 pages, 1,250,000 words and 1,200 illustrations at the special price of only $1.25 ($1.40 by mail).

Name _____
Street and No. _____
City and State _____

Size of Book
5 1/2 x 8 1/2 x 2 in. Latest, most up-to-date information on 22,000 subjects. 1,250,000 words. 1,334 pages. 1,200 pictures. Edited by A. H. MacDannald, Editor of Encyclopaedia Americana.

cleaning preparation will be put on the chapel building fund. The association voted to sponsor a rummage sale for Saturday, March 14.

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Winston and Mr. Eddie Murphy of Shreveport, La., were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Talley.

Friends of A. B. Patton Jr., who has been critically ill in Fayetteville, where he is a student in the University of Arkansas, will be glad to know that his condition is reported as being improved.

Otis Rose of the Saratoga High School faculty was the week end guest of Jimmie Harlin.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Vesey had week end guests Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Davidson of Arkadelphia.

George Edward Cannon and little son, of Foreman spent Sunday with Mrs. Cannon who is a patient in Joe-phine hospital.

The newly organized Sunday school class of Professional Girls of the First Methodist church held a business and social meeting Friday night at the home of Miss Evelyn Murphy on East Second street. The new officers were announced as follows: President, Miss Mary Jones; vice president, Miss Evelyn Murphy; secretary, Miss Gladys Watson; treasurer, Miss Edna Jones. The Jett B. Graves Sunday school class was chosen at the name. Following the business meeting, games and contests were enjoyed. The First Friday in each month was selected for the social meeting. The hostess assisted by her sister, Mrs. Edwin Ward served delicious refreshments to 16 members and the two visitors, Dr. and Mrs. Fred R. Harrison.

Mrs. W. J. McDow left Saturday for her home in Minden, La., after an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Jones. Mrs. McDow will be remembered as Miss Pauline Hazel Jones.

Mary Delia Carrigan, Hope sophomore at Hendrix college, has been appointed a member of the housing committee for the twelfth annual meeting of the Arkansas College Press association, to be held here April 17 and 18. Miss Carrigan is a member of the news staff of the College Profile, Hendrix student weekly newspaper.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Garrett Memorial church will meet at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mike Ponder. A full membership is urged.

Mrs. Henry Haynes' Sunday school class, First Baptist church, will meet at 7 o'clock Monday evening at the church for their regular monthly business and social meeting. Mrs. Carroll Schooley and Mrs. Bill Schooley will act as hosts. All members are urged to be present.

The Hempstead County Unit of the Arkansas Women's Democratic club will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 in the council room at the city hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Britt and sons, Johnny, Wilson and Tommie, were Sunday guests of friends in El Dorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lock were Saturday visitors in Little Rock.

The Hope Garden club held a most interesting and enthusiastic meeting on Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Aline Johnson, East Third street. In the absence of the president, Mrs. K. G. McEneaney, Mrs. D. B. Thompson presided over the business meeting, at which time, the nominating committee reported the following officers: President, Mrs. Aline Johnson; vice president, Mrs. Seava Gibson; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Henry; which were unanimously accepted. Roll call responses were names and descriptions of some new flowers, which opened the instructive program presented by Mrs. J. A. Henry, who asked Mrs. E. White to continue in the correct pronunciation of names of different plants and flowers. Mrs. D. B. Thompson discussed the fundamentals of transplanting seedlings. The meeting closed with a round table discussion of planting and caring for plants and flowers.

The March meeting of the Cemetery association was held on Friday afternoon at the home of the president, Miss Mamie Bryant, with a splendid attendance. Mrs. E. E. White chairman of the standing committee reported on the planting of shrubs and asked for contributions of privet. All money collected from the sale of lots and the cleaning preparation will be put on the chapel building fund. The association voted to sponsor a rummage sale for Saturday, March 14.

Within a few days, commercial firms, rushed blankets, refrigerators, diapers, cribs, packaged baby food, nursing bottles, booties, thermometers, bibs and bathtubs.

Individuals, their hearts instantly warming to the quintuplets, sent money, clothing, embroidered smocks, home recipes, medical recommendations, requests for autographs, and a flood of good wishes which arrived constantly by telegram and mail.

Montreal, the nearest great city, responded as soon as the story was blazoned across its newspaper pages. Immediately sending the public interest which was shown, Sir Basil Crawford roused himself to action. He wired succinct instructions to MacKenzie at Moosetown.

The company manager scowled as he read the curt telegram. It said: "GET DOCTOR WILSON OUT OF THERE AT ONCE STOP REPAIR ALL POSSIBLE AID DR. LUKE."

MacKenzie had no choice but to obey, but his call on Dr. Luke at one of the periods when the doctor was at home trying to keep up with his regular patients, was surely and ungraciously. He felt that Sir Basil had thrown him down badly, a feeling that was not entirely unjustified.

Dr. Luke was not fooled by the tender of aid from MacKenzie. He did not know, but he suspected, that the popularity of the babies and the focus of public attention on the situation had prompted the offer. But to call on him for anything he might need, "All foolishness," he added, "I haven't as much time left for my regular practice as I ought to have."

With the flood of mail which came in on the doctor and which lay for the most part unopened in his desk because of sheer lack of time to attend to it, came a wave of reporters. From North Bay, from Detroit, Cleveland, Montreal, New York, Chicago, came the reporters and camera men, plugging the doctor for details, pictures, signed stories. At first Dr. Luke was resentful. The quiet ways of Moosetown had included no such hectic whirlwind as this. But gradually, as money and aid began to pour in as a direct result of the stories the young men were filing at the crowded telegraph office, Dr. Luke became reconciled. This was the channel, he saw, through which a friendly and sympathetic curiosity was being satisfied.

Meanwhile Sir Basil had another inspiration. He called Dr. Paul Luke at the Cur-

pan on its bottom heated by a kerosene burner, a thermometer and a sponge-holder inside to keep humidity high. But it was a godsend, and within a few minutes the two smallest babies were resting comfortably and snugly within it.

The incubator was only the forerunner of a deluge of gifts, some useful and all well-meant, which descended on Moosetown.

Within a few days, commercial firms, rushed blankets, refrigerators, diapers, cribs, packaged baby food, nursing bottles, booties, thermometers, bibs and bathtubs.

Individuals, their hearts instantly warming to the quintuplets, sent money, clothing, embroidered smocks, home recipes, medical recommendations, requests for autographs, and a flood of good wishes which arrived constantly by telegram and mail.

Montreal, the nearest great city, responded as soon as the story was blazoned across its newspaper pages. Immediately sending the public interest which was shown, Sir Basil Crawford roused himself to action. He wired succinct instructions to MacKenzie at Moosetown.

The company manager scowled as he read the curt telegram. It said: "GET DOCTOR WILSON OUT OF THERE AT ONCE STOP REPAIR ALL POSSIBLE AID DR. LUKE."

MacKenzie had no choice but to obey, but his call on Dr. Luke at one of the periods when the doctor was at home trying to keep up with his regular patients, was surely and ungraciously. He felt that Sir Basil had thrown him down badly, a feeling that was not entirely unjustified.

Dr. Luke was not fooled by the tender of aid from MacKenzie. He did not know, but he suspected, that the popularity of the babies and the focus of public attention on the situation had prompted the offer. But to call on him for anything he might need, "All foolishness," he added, "I haven't as much time left for my regular practice as I ought to have."

With the flood of mail which came in on the doctor and which lay for the most part unopened in his desk because of sheer lack of time to attend to it, came a wave of reporters. From North Bay, from Detroit, Cleveland, Montreal, New York, Chicago, came the reporters and camera men, plugging the doctor for details, pictures, signed stories. At first Dr. Luke was resentful. The quiet ways of Moosetown had included no such hectic whirlwind as this. But gradually, as money and aid began to pour in as a direct result of the stories the young men were filing at the crowded telegraph office, Dr. Luke became reconciled. This was the channel, he saw, through which a friendly and sympathetic curiosity was being satisfied.

Meanwhile Sir Basil had another inspiration. He called Dr. Paul Luke at the Cur-

pan on its bottom heated by a kerosene burner, a thermometer and a sponge-holder inside to keep humidity high. But it was a godsend, and within a few minutes the two smallest babies were resting comfortably and snugly within it.

The incubator was only the forerunner of a deluge of gifts, some useful and all well-meant, which descended on Moosetown.

Within a few days, commercial firms, rushed blankets, refrigerators, diapers, cribs, packaged baby food, nursing bottles, booties, thermometers, bibs and bathtubs.

Individuals, their hearts instantly warming to the quintuplets, sent money, clothing, embroidered smocks, home recipes, medical recommendations, requests for autographs, and a flood of good wishes which arrived constantly by telegram and mail.

Montreal, the nearest great city, responded as soon as the story was blazoned across its newspaper pages. Immediately sending the public interest which was shown, Sir Basil Crawford roused himself to action. He wired succinct instructions to MacKenzie at Moosetown.

The company manager scowled as he read the curt telegram. It said: "GET DOCTOR WILSON OUT OF THERE AT ONCE STOP REPAIR ALL POSSIBLE AID DR. LUKE."

MacKenzie had no choice but to obey, but his call on Dr. Luke at one of the periods when the doctor was at home trying to keep up with his regular patients, was surely and ungraciously. He felt that Sir Basil had thrown him down badly, a feeling that was not entirely unjustified.

Dr. Luke was not fooled by the tender of aid from MacKenzie. He did not know, but he suspected, that the popularity of the babies and the focus of public attention on the situation had prompted the offer. But to call on him for anything he might need, "All foolishness," he added, "I haven't as much time left for my regular practice as I ought to have."

With the flood of mail which came in on the doctor and which lay for the most part unopened in his desk because of sheer lack of time to attend to it, came a wave of reporters. From North Bay, from Detroit, Cleveland, Montreal, New York, Chicago, came the reporters and camera men, plugging the doctor for details, pictures, signed stories. At first Dr. Luke was resentful. The quiet ways of Moosetown had included no such hectic whirlwind as this. But gradually, as money and aid began to pour in as a direct result of the stories the young men were filing at the crowded telegraph office, Dr. Luke became reconciled. This was the channel, he saw, through which a friendly and sympathetic curiosity was being satisfied.

Meanwhile Sir Basil had another inspiration. He called Dr. Paul Luke at the Cur-

pan on its bottom heated by a kerosene burner, a thermometer and a sponge-holder inside to keep humidity high. But it was a godsend, and within a few minutes the two smallest babies were resting comfortably and snugly within it.

The incubator was only the forerunner of a deluge of gifts, some useful and all well-meant, which descended on Moosetown.

Within a few days, commercial firms, rushed blankets, refrigerators, diapers, cribs, packaged baby food, nursing bottles, booties, thermometers, bibs and bathtubs.

Individuals, their hearts instantly warming to the quintuplets, sent money, clothing, embroidered smocks, home recipes, medical recommendations, requests for autographs, and a flood of good wishes which arrived constantly by telegram and mail.

Montreal, the nearest great city, responded as soon as the story was blazoned across its newspaper pages. Immediately sending the public interest which was shown, Sir Basil Crawford roused himself to action. He wired succinct instructions to MacKenzie at Moosetown.

The company manager scowled as he read the curt telegram. It said: "GET DOCTOR WILSON OUT OF THERE AT ONCE STOP REPAIR ALL POSSIBLE AID DR. LUKE."

MacKenzie had no choice but to obey, but his call on Dr. Luke at one of the periods when the doctor was at home trying to keep up with his regular patients, was surely and ungraciously. He felt that Sir Basil had thrown him down badly, a feeling that was not entirely unjustified.

Dr. Luke was not fooled by the tender of aid from MacKenzie. He did not know, but he suspected, that the popularity of the babies and the focus of public attention on the situation had prompted the offer. But to call on him for anything he might need, "All foolishness," he added, "I haven't as much time left for my regular practice as I ought to have."

With the flood of mail which came in on the doctor and which lay for the most part unopened in his desk because of sheer lack of time to attend to it, came a wave of reporters. From North Bay, from Detroit, Cleveland, Montreal, New York, Chicago, came the reporters and camera men, plugging the doctor for details, pictures, signed stories. At first Dr. Luke was resentful. The quiet ways of Moosetown had included no such hectic whirlwind as this. But gradually, as money and aid began to pour in as a direct result of the stories the young men were filing at the crowded telegraph office, Dr. Luke became reconciled. This was the channel, he saw, through which a friendly and sympathetic curiosity was being satisfied.

Meanwhile Sir Basil had another inspiration. He called Dr. Paul Luke at the Cur-

zon Street Hospital. "Ah, there, Doctor!" he beamed through the transmitter. "Quite an interesting affair up there in Moosetown, oh? I wanted you to know that, of course, we've always had the fullest confidence in your brother—yes, the company would be more than glad to co-operate in any possible way. Perhaps we might be able to have some mothers' milk sent to the—ah, children?"

Dr. Paul was slightly annoyed. "Very good of you, indeed, Sir Basil," he replied. "But this hospital and several others have been sending an adequate supply since the second day." "I'm aw, splendid," stammered Sir Basil. "If there is—anything at all the company can do, I trust you will call on us. If you go up there yourself, I trust you'll convey my felicitations to your brother."

"Yes, I'll tell him," replied Dr. Paul, amused now. "I do plan to go up there soon." Then he rang off.

"Old stuffed shirt!" muttered Dr. Paul to himself. "Nothing for Moosetown all these years. Now that they've got a public miracle under way, nothing's too much for them."

Miracle it was, for every hour, every day, every week added to the lives of the babies, broke another medical record.

The first week or so was a nightmare for Dr. Luke. Called from his bed at all hours, by telephone calls and poundings at his front door, he had to respond also to frantic emergency calls from the Wyatt home, and besides all this keep up the regular practice which again leaped upward with the departure of Dr. Wilson.

The entire Wyatt home had to be reorganized as a nursery, screens placed on windows to guard against the vicious black flies and mosquitoes. Long lines of diapers appeared in the back yard, and a laundry system begun.

The older Wyatt children remained at a neighbor's when several of them developed bronchitis. There was no room for them in the tiny Wyatt home anyway, with three nurses and a cook and "hospital orderlies" on hand.

Mrs. Wyatt was soon up and around, and doing her share of the work, assisting between her own home and that of the neighbor who was keeping her other children. Asa spent a great deal of time at the village store. His initial shyness began to disappear, and he soon began to blossom into a person of importance. Constant posing before the insatiable newspaper cameras had its share in this.

In the evening Dr. Luke tried to hide away in his study, to avoid the general hubbub. Even that haven was denied him, for the doorbell rang constantly. Promoters seeking his approval of this or that proposition for exploiting the miraculous children, producers of baby foods and supplies seeking endorsements, newspapermen and women imploring him to "give them a new slant on the case." So bad did this get that Dr. Luke was more than half inclined not to answer the bell one night when it interrupted him for the twentieth time. But he went wearily to the door and opened it.

Mary MacKenzie stood before him. "Why come in, Mary?" he greeted her. "Nobody sick, it there? Your Daddy's arm getting on all right?"

Mary was obviously distressed. She sat nervously in a chair below the shelves of books that rose to the ceiling, twisting a handkerchief in her hands. Her eyes cast downward toward her nervously-moving hands, but she came finally to the point.

"Dr. Luke," she said, "have you heard anything from Tony?"

"Why, yes," responded the doctor. "I had a short note from him last week. He's back in medical school. And a had a note from my brother that mentioned that he was doing very well."

"I'm so glad," Mary's relief was obvious. "You see—" she added hesitantly. "I haven't had a letter from him in a long time. I had one or two—and then—I'm not sure, but I think father's holding them up. I saw him go out to the mail box the other day, and tear up a letter. It was just when I was expecting to hear from Tony, and—"

"Hm!" the doctor said nothing, but indignation swelled within him. "I think maybe we can fix up a little plan—"

(To Be Continued)

Maj. Bowes' Unit at Saenger Friday

No. 14 Company, of Amateur Hour, Here for Matinee and Night

Major Edward Bowes... originator of the Radio Amateur Hour...

Major Edward Bowes, father (by proxy) of the world's most then half inclined not to answer the bell one night when it interrupted him for the twentieth time. But he went wearily to the door and opened it.

Mary MacKenzie stood before him. "Why come in, Mary?" he greeted her. "Nobody sick, it there? Your Daddy's arm getting on all right?"

Mary was obviously distressed. She sat nervously in a chair below the shelves of books that rose to the ceiling, twisting a handkerchief in her hands. Her eyes cast downward toward her nervously-moving hands, but she came finally to the point.

"Dr. Luke," she said, "have you heard anything from Tony?"

"Why, yes," responded the doctor. "I had a short note from him last week. He's back in medical school. And a had a note from my brother that mentioned that he was doing very well."

"I'm so glad," Mary's relief was obvious. "You see—" she added hesitantly. "I haven't had a letter from him in a long time. I had one or two—and then—I'm not sure, but I think father's holding them up. I saw him go out to the mail box the other day, and tear up a letter. It was just when I was expecting to hear from Tony, and—"

"Hm!" the doctor said nothing, but indignation swelled within him. "I think maybe we can fix up a little plan—"

(To Be Continued)

famous family... "The Capitol Theater Family..."

Exudes paternal interest. A kind, friendly voice tinged at all times with a dash of gallantry has earned for him the title of "Lord Chesterfield of the Air." Father Coughlin once sent a letter addressed merely to the "Lord Chesterfield of the Air" and it was promptly delivered to the Major.

He never keeps more than 100 suits in his closet... gives away away. His tailor moved into the same building with him... discovered it was much more convenient.

The title "Major" is from the Officers Reserve Corp... Staff Specialist attached to the office of the Adjutant General. Everyone addresses him as "Major."

Never loses his temper... is calm... poised... never cusses.

Lives on 5th floor of the Capitol Theater building... his apartment consists of 14 rooms and contains luxuries such as barber, chair, bath cabinets... ultra violet ray lamps, etc. Has a country home in the Westchester hills overlooking the Hudson. It boasts of a private swimming pool... 18,000 laurel bushes... colorful gardens and green houses... and an ornamental iron balcony which he brought from New Orleans.

It is his sixth country home. Each one grew so large and required so many gardeners and servants... it became another business to manage. Believes he has the right size now. Romance? You bet! Was married for over 25 years and never had a quarrel. His wife was one of America's most beloved actresses—the late Margaret Ellington... she preferred to be known as plain Mrs. Bowes.

His No. 14 Unit of Amateurs appears at the Saenger, in person, at both the matinee and night shows this coming Friday the 13th.

The different circles of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will meet Monday afternoon at 2:30 as follows: Martha Cummins Circle with Mrs. D. C. Cummins;

Ida Stevens Circle with Mrs. Wayne Anderson; Sallie Nichols Circle with Mrs. Abe Wells and Mrs. May Powell Circle with Mrs. Walter Bannant.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the church. Phil Weaver, a student of Hendrix State Teachers college at Arkadelphia, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Weaver. A nice crowd was at the senior play Friday night at the Junior High School. The money will be used to buy something for the high school which will be a memorial of the senior class of 1935-36.

Governors, limiting speeds to a maximum of 30 miles an hour, are to be installed on 200 new trucks and automobiles ordered by New York City's Department of Sanitation.

Mothers!
In treating children's colds, don't take chances... use VICKS VapoRub

PROVED BY 2 GENERATIONS

Are You Satisfied With Your Complexion. Sure That Your Make-Up Enhances Your Beauty?

Let us show you the complete line of Caru Nome Toilettries. Visit our testing table and ask for leaflets of facial make-up.

JOHN S. GIBSON
Drug Company
"The Rexall Store"
Phone 63
Hope, Ark. Established 1885

Prescott News in Brief
By DALE McKINNEY

IT'S TIME TO GO FISHING
Let Us Fix Your Lunch
LUCK'S TOURIST COURT
MINNOWS FOR SALE
PHONE 222

MIXING BOWL
SPECIAL this week!
14c
LIMIT 2 TO A CUSTOMER
HOPE HARDWARE COMPANY

For centuries the world has gone to the Near East for its flavors and aromas and spices.

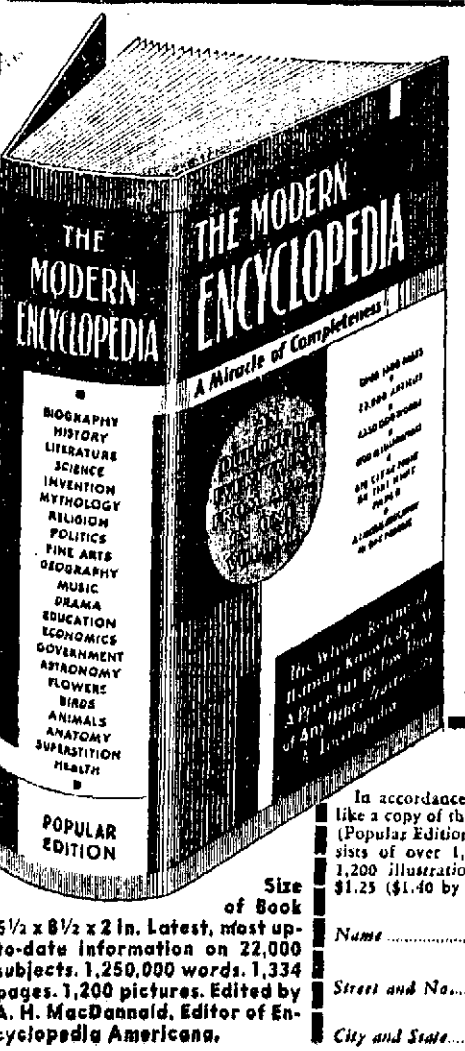

...and today Chesterfield imports thousands of bales of tobacco from Turkey and Greece to add flavor and fragrance to Chesterfield Cigarettes.

Turkish tobacco is expensive. The import duty alone is 35 cents a pound. But no other place except Turkey and Greece can raise tobacco of this particular aroma and flavor.

This Turkish tobacco, blended with our own American tobaccos in the correct proportions to bring out the finer qualities of each tobacco, helps to make Chesterfields outstanding for mildness and for better taste.

Outstanding
...for mildness
...for better taste

FOR SALE
Clippings for Kindling Wood.
For Delivery Call 245
HOPE HEADING CO.

Bargain! 15 pounds of WASHING
49c
NELSON-HUCKINS
LAUNDRY COMPANY

By WILLIAMS

By MARTIN

By HAMLIN

By CRANE.

By BLOSSER

1976 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.
SON & COLL

1236 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

1